

Abstract

Sole for Sport Shoes with Cleats

According to the invention, a cleat for sport shoes has a locking pin by means of which the cleat is locked automatically in a receptacle of the sole through a spring. In the process, the installation of the cleat is performed by hand only whereas the removal is accomplished with the help of a tool that rotates the cleat (Fig. 5).

* * * * *